

Dear all,

Good day.

From the Spain Toy Association we would put into the agenda the safety requirements (diverse, and with an increasing diversion trend) in the toy business in EU & USA. These different systems, and the non-recognition of the other's certificates of safety (making mandatory for the companies to re-analyse the products if they are interested in expanding their business in the counterpart) are acting as technical barriers to trade.

The US toy market is the biggest all over the world, aprox ¼ of the global toy market, so specially for the EU toy industry is an issue to be highlighted and solved.

Best regards,
