

Dear Sirs,

I am from Spain and I have been working in the US for the last year and a half in the Trade Commission of Spain. One of the most struggling issue and a big trade barrier is to obtain a VISA to work in the US.

I would like to suggest to improve the relations between US and EU in that sense. I think that if it was possible to facilitate working VISAs for professional Europeans to work in the US, it would be a good manner to improve the job creation, economic growth, and international competitiveness.

I could suggest more specific ideas and put some examples, let me know if you want to hear it.

Best regards, and thank you for working to improve US-EU economic relations,

David Gomez
